

Ryan Wexelblatt

LCSW, ADHD-CCSP

ADHD DUDE FOUNDER & DIRECTOR

About Ryan

Ryan Wexelblatt, an expert in ADHD, offers practical solutions for the most common stressors families of kids with ADHD experience, including behavior at home, lagging social skills, difficulty making and keeping friends, and managing their emotions.

- Licensed Clinical Social Worker
- Certified School Social Worker
- ADDitude Magazine Contributor
- Presenter for Conferences and Groups

Speaking

Ryan is known for his ability to take otherwise stodgy academic content and convey it in a highly engaging, actionable, and authentic way. No sugar-coating, no “academic speak.”

He can tailor presentations to the needs of the audience and has presented to mental health professionals, educators, speech-language pathologists, and parents.

Ryan relates well with both moms and dads and his affable approach and penchant for storytelling keeps kids (with short attention spans) engaged.

Websites

adhdude.com

ryanwexelblatt.com